Bond Election For Fire Protection

An informal meeting of members of the local department and the board of city trustees was held at the city hall on Thursday evening for the purpose of discussing fire protection.

During the day, after the terrible disaster of the morning, feeling that something should be done at once toward adequate fire protection, had grown stronger and stronger, and there was a good attendance of property owners at the meeting. Not only did they attend but they took part in the discussions of ways and means and were unanimous, with the two trustees who were present, in their approval of the plans decided upon.

The city attorney also gave assistance and advice, acquainting those present as to the preliminary steps required by law as to advertising for bids and calling a bond election.

The plans which will be presented for the approval of the board of trustees next Tuesday night are:

The immediate purchase of 250 feet of hose.

A bond issue of $5000 for purchasing a motor fire truck—triple combination and double tank—giving protection of chemical engine and hosecart, with booster pump.

It was said that where new hydrants could not be put in because of inadequate water pressure that this chemical engine, reinforced by twenty-five dry hand grenades carried on the truck, will give Carmel the best general fire protection possible at this time. Wherever possible new hydrants will be installed for use with the additional hose, and with the booster pump, in spite of light pressure, can throw a double stream upon any fire.

Trustee Newberry stated that the Monterey County Water Works had already agreed to lay larger mains which would provide additional pressure for household use, and hydrants where required.

Next Tuesday night the board of trustees meets. Attend and make your presence helpful.

The spirit of cooperation at this meeting was so great that City Attorney Campbell volunteered his services gratis for the bond election, other citizens offered to serve as election officers without charge, and the Pine Cone will publish the legal advertising for 35 per cent below the contracted rate.

Trotter Estate Appraised

Paul E. Trotter, brother of the sometimes defunct "Sam" Trotter, has petitioned the Superior Court for letters of administration on the estate of Mrs. Adelaide B. Trotter of Palo Colorado. According to the petition the estimated value of the estate is about $16,000. F. A. Treat is the petitioner's attorney.

Bishop Parsons Will Preach Here

The Rt. Rev. Edward Lambe Parsons, D. D., Bishop Coadjutor of Californi, will visit All Saints' Church here next Sunday. At the four o'clock service he will preach and administer the rite of confirmation.

Rev. George M. Dorwart and family will be home soon. They have been spending the summer at Deal, N. J.

Our Beautiful Carmel River

By Bertha E. Sanderlin

UP up the Valley, where the whisp'ring trees
And the empurpled hills are bathed in light;
From the gray fog and roar of battling seas,
To perfum'd sunshin'd herb and verdure bright.

UP up the Valley, where from piney source
The stream is born all rippling and agleam;
Down to the sea, where it is merged in foam,
Or a dream blueness meeting bluer dream.

UP up the Valley secrets glad are told
Of this old World, and Nature's kiss is sweet,
And to the souls that love her are unroll'd
All of her being that is fair and meet.

UP up the Valley redwood trees uplift
Their tap'ring summits to the encircling sphere;
And Love and Joy and Beauty are its gift,
And the Great Love Itself draws close a'near.

AH, you fair River, winding in the glow
Of west'ring sun, and seen now here, now there;
When the soft shades of night are falling clear and slow;
You are to all a benediction and a prayer.

Artists' Concert Series Begins October 24th

Every effort is being made to dispose of the entire block of season tickets for the Artists' Concert Series to be given at the Monterey theater, beginning Thursday, October 24.

Florence Macbeth will be the first of the group of artists to appear. The proceeds of these concerts will be devoted to Peninsula charities and are under the direction of several patronesses in Carmel, Monterey and Pacific Grove.

Florence Macbeth, the American Galli Curci, is the leading coloratura soprano of the Chicago Grand Opera Company.

Other artists of note to appear in this series are Louis Persinger, concert violinist of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra; Annie Louise David, harpist, Arthur Schnabel pianist, and Irene Pavloska, mezzo-soprano.

Tickets at Cabbages and Kings, or from the patronesses.

Boys' Club to Have Outing

On Tuesday evening the senior Boys' Club elected the following officers to serve until January: President, Tom Hooper; vice-president, James Hopper Jr.; secretary, Jack Muligardt.

A trip to the Monterey Presidia or some neighboring training ground is being arranged by Col. Cusack of the Seventh Cavalry for some day next week. Definite notice will be posted. Those who have autos to transport the boys, please communicate with Miss Johnson or Miss Culbertson.

Celebration of Road Beginning Oct. 22

A change of date for the celebration of the beginning of work on the Carmel-San Simeon highway has been announced. It was first planned to have the barbacue picnic and speech-making tomorrow, but at a meeting of the Monterey Chamber of Commerce the affair was postponed one week. So all the faithful will gather at the Big Sur next Sunday, October 22nd.

Concerning the Carmel-San Simeon highway, now under construction, a writer recently stated that it was the "most beautiful and spectacular highway ever constructed in California."

The building of this highway will give opportunity for the use of the most technical of engineering skill. The road, approximately 130 miles long, will pass through large sections of redwood forests, deep into canyons, and along precipitious cliffs. Scenic beauties that will rival any coast line scenery in the world will be discernible when the highway is built.

It does not require much foresight to predict that in several places along this great highway there will be established new towns.

The entire cost of the completed highway has not been figured, but it will cost much more than the million and three-quarters appropriated for it.

Already nearly a million dollars' worth of work and material has been contracted for, and there are still forty-five miles to be constructed.

It is estimated that with continuous work the highway will be opened in two years and completed (surfaced) in three years.

Carmel Shocked By Harrison Tragedy

All her hopes and all her tears;
All her joys—all her fears—
Had come to naught on that one day
When Fate and Destiny held their sway.

Two chimneys stand as symbols bold
Guardmounting ruins black and cold:
All that was Wildair is no more;
But these alone toward heaven soar.

And she that dwelt behind that door
Can no more hear the ocean's roar;
But from above I know she sees
The flowers she loved—the green pine trees.

And now from There she'll understand
Rewards that greet the helping hand—
The mystery of the chimneys old;
Fate and destiny—gaunt and bold
—[R. M. S., Carmel, Oct. 12, '22.]

A most tragic death has saddened Carmel.

It occurred early Thursday morning, when Mrs. Ella Reid Harrison was burned to death in her residence, where she lived alone.

An alarm of fire was turned in a little before 6 o'clock, and the response was prompt but ineffectual, as the home was a seething mass of flames upon their arrival, making impossible any attempt to enter the premises.

At first it was thought that Mrs. Harrison had spent the night with a neighbor, but a canvass of the homes of her friends was futile. Inquiry in Monterey, where she had visited the day before, was also without result.

It was learned later that the unfortunate lady was seen at her home at 7 o'clock the night before the fire, so the gruesome task of seeking her remains in the ruins began. After a two hours' search the charred body was found.

The coroner was notified at once and took charge of the remains Thursday morning, holding the inquest during the afternoon.

Mrs. Harrison was born in New York in 1357, and spent her girlhood in that state. Her parents having died while she was still a child, she made her home with her uncle, Whitelaw Reid, publisher of the New York Tribune and ambassador to Great Britain. She came to California many years ago, and became the wife of Ralph Chandler Harrison, for twelve years justice of the State Supreme Court.

She was always interested in Carmel and established a permanent home here about three years ago.

Mrs. Harrison's life was very largely philanthropic, and especially were her benefactions notable in the field of art.

AUTO INFO

Do not allow anyone to ride on the running board, spare tire, or bumper of the car. Persons on bicycles, roller skates or in carts should never be permitted to hitch onto the car.

o+o

National officials of the Victory Highway Association at Topeka, Kansas, are thoroughly approving of the selection of the Truckee canon route for the highway, into upper California, from acramento to Oakland.

o+o

California is today so fortunate in the possession of automobiles that it is possible to comfortably seat every inhabitant at the same time in them and completely depopulate the state within twenty-four hours' time.

o+o

During the wet season travelers on the Carmel hill should drive very cautiously. There is nothing so easy to skid on as a wet asphalt pavement. On wet surface concrete it is different. The latter material will go down on Ocean avenue.

o+o

Build more concrete roads. We have in this state about 70,000 miles of roads, good, bad and indifferent, and of this total mileage only about 9 percent is paved. We have by far the bulk of the traffic on a very small percentage of highways and a resultant congestion in many places.

o+o

When an automobile is permitted to labor while going up a steep hill, the sudden blows of the explosion, acting against the resistance of the slow-moving crankshaft, tend to flatten out the bearings, shortening their life, wearing them out and making the engine knock long before it should under proper use. Do not crowd the engine to see if it can possibly make the top of the hill without shifting gears.

Books, pamphlets, programs, business forms, are printed by the Pine Cone Press.

Boulevard Players Make Their Bow

The Boulevard Players of San Leandro produced the first of their 1922-1923 series of one act plays at their club-play house last Saturday night. The feature of the program was "The Tragedy of Ulsted Inn" written by the founder of this club, Mr. Wilbur Tupper, and produced by his son, Mr. Albert Upton. Second in interest was a charming production of William Butler Yeats' "The Hour Glass." The costumes for the Yeats play, designed by Mrs. Tupper was especially beautiful and fitting. And one would go far to find a more winsome "fool" than Mr. Merlyn Morse's interpretation of the part.

Nit on the Knickers

Three of the female teaching fellows of the English department, university of California, attempted to make tradition by wearing knickerbockers in their classrooms. The result has been that the male, which is fiercer and more conventional than the female, hissed their fair young instructors in knickers and in consequence the freshmen are learning the fundamentals of unity, coherence, and emphasis from petticoats, henceforth.

School Authorities Frightened

A report current throughout the county, which has been given publicity in the newspapers to the effect that school trustees are personally liable for damages in case of a child attending school is hurt while playing on swings or other lawful playground equipment is erroneous, according to a circular letter that is being prepared.

County School Superintendent James G. Force says: "When boards of trustees fulfill the requirements of the law by installing safe equipment for playground use they are as surely exempt from liability as any other official body, such as city trustees, park commissioners or members of a fire department."

The Lessons of the Sea

By LILIAN BIRMINGHAM GRAY.

From mountain-valley here I flee
To breathe thy air, O wondrous Sea!
Far from the citys toil and fret
All work and worries to forget;
To feast my weary eyes anew
On thy expanse of deepest blue,
And, fleeing from the marts of men,
Drink thy life giving air again.

Thy groping fingers on the sand
As oft the striving human hand
Are hindered by the undertow,
Falls empty in Life's ebb and flow.
But thy persistence teaches me
Ne'er to despair,—Oh patient Sea!
Where rock-bound shores oppose thy way
High leap thy waves in foaming spray;
E'en rock is worn by they advance,
So Will can alter circumstance.

Beneath thy crests, where sea-birds ride
Securely, pearl and fish abide;—
The food our Christ provided men;
Shall we His priceless Pearl obtain?
Thru fog, the sunset's prismed ray
Gave promise of this perfect day.

E'en thru night's shadows evermore
Thy surges beat upon the shore;
For, guided by a Higher Hand,
Thy billows move at His command.
Thru day and night He leadeth me.
Thru dark or light He ruleth thee;
Where sky and sea appear to meet,
The sailor sees thy bounds retreat;
So, on Life's sea, there is a gate;
Beyond Death's shadow glories wait.
Thy depth 's no deeper than God's love;
It fills our world; our hearts doth move.
Oh restless waves that never cease,
Unto my soul ye bringeth peace.

Mrs. Gray is owner of the Ora Villa property in Carmel. She and Mr. Gray have been touring the state, coming from their home in Oroville, Butte county, passing over the inland route to the borders of Mexico, and tarried here a few days on their return trip over the coast route.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We said that we would announce a KNOCKOUT. Read the specifications of improvements in the Chevrolet Superior Models:

Specifications of Improvements in the Chevrolet "Superior" 1923 Models

- ¶ This car has a Stream-line body.
- ¶ The radiator is considerably higher than we have had heretofore on the model "Four-Ninety," which, of course, means a larger hood and cowl.
- ¶ Gasoline tank is in the rear, with vacuum feed.
- ¶ The headlights are drum type, with legal lenses.
- ¶ The curtains open with the doors and the front doors open in the opposite direction than on the "Four-Ninety" touring car.
- ¶ The fenders are extremely strong and have a rib rolled into them, which stiffens them up very much.
- ¶ The splash plate between the running board and the frame also has a rib rolled into it, which makes it strong and attractive.

This beautiful car goes at the old price of the "Four-Ninety"

Specifications of Improvements in the Chevrolet "Superior" 1923 Models

- ¶ There are a great many slots in the side of the hood than on the "Four-Ninety."
- ¶ The frame has been lengthened a trifle and the wheel base increased 1-2" and the frame is considerably heavier.
- ¶ The front springs appear to be longer and with a swan's-neck curve in them, making them appear differently than on the "Four-Ninety."
- ¶ The light in the rear back curtain is rectangular, similar to that used in the "FB" Model.
- ¶ The style of the steering gear has been changed—
- ¶ In fact, the whole job makes a very beautiful car, and if you were to see one of them go by your door and did not see the name plate on the radiator, we doubt if you would know it was a Chevrolet.
- ¶ The car weighs more than the former "Four-Ninety."

REVIEW OF BOOKS IN CARMEL LIBRARY

By Ann Burroughs

ANOTHER OF BOOTH TARKINGTON'S

"Gentle Julia" is a revamping of the adolescent and meddlesomeness of family material which Mr. Tarkington has given so many previous evidences of having well in hand. The novel is amusing in spite of its lack of freshness and tinged with reality in spite of its dangling Punch and Judy strings. It is an improvement on "Alice Adams," for "Gentle Julia" confirms itself to lighter matters wherein Mr. Tarkington's bent for the cruel and the sentimental are submerged beneath delighted chuckles, and it is not unpalatable because all ends happily. Because the elders are a half-real background of grotesques and characters, the youths of the twenties and under have the benefit of the full stage lighting.

The incidents of the novel are few and of as careful a selection and as fond a handling as a master of the standardized portrayal of youth would make. But aside from the ripple made by the production and selling of the volume and the resultant flushing of Mr. Tarkington's exchequer, I doubt if America is touched by the volume's appearance. One reads it in an hour or two half angry that so slight a thing proves fascinating. Then one tells one's neighbor that its been nice; but oh, for the days of Penrod. "But," pursues your neighbor, "isn't it splendid that Tarkington doesn't drink anymore—you know he used to . . . . . " And if one doesn't know ones neighbor well, the conversation stops there, but at least "Gentle Julia" has been forgotten.

SIR HARRY JOHNSTON PERSISTS

"The Veneerings" takes up the story of "Our Mutual Friend" and follows the fortunes of the Veneerings, the now wealthy John Harmons, and the various Milveys. The story is princapally a narration of the methods by which the eleemosynary John Harmon lifts to prosperity and loving kindness all of his relations and acquaintances.

The plot formation is trival but throughout the novel Sir Harry is extravagantly self-expressive. He airs too many prejudices, carries too many established heroes and heroines from the glory that was theirs from Dickens to a slighter glory that is their from Sir Harry Johnston. The novelist goes on for too overwhelmingly many paragraphs of botanical discoveries into the topics of Central and South America and Africa. And he is much too sketchy with his characters and not nearly flippant enough with his readers.

Sir Harry can tell a story entertaingly and should be much in demand as dinner or week-end guest. But, as novelist, he leaves much to be desired. He suggests Archibald Marshall, though his novels have more red blood than Marshall's gentle myriad. However, Sir Harry's dramatic personae are much too good or much too successful. They have neither joints nor ideas. Their emotions are novelistic and their actions fictional. And, at the end of a sitting with them, one is happy to have met the cheery, middle-aged Sir Harry again, but regrets that he persists in writing novels.

A HEALTH LESSON FROM NATURE

NATURE IS PERFECTION, and works in many peculiar ways to attain it. Unless perverted by accidental conditions it does attain a high standard of perfection. In man this means health.

What causes disease? It must be an interference. Sever the roots of a tree and it will slowly starve and die, because the sap is shut off. Man's life force may be likened to the sap of the tree. If the nerve cables are compressed where they branch from the backbone, due to one of the vertebrae slipping out of place, the life power is shut off and disease sets in, in those organs that should be fed through the nerves. This injury can be corrected and healthy conditions restored by CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTMENTS.

A sealed copy of the 15-reel motion picture of the life and time of Abraham Lincoln has been offered to the United tates Government and the National Lincoln Memorial Commission for deposit in Washington until the 300th anniversary of Lincoln's birth, February 12, 2109. With the film is offered a motion-projection machine, with full instructions how to operate it, the entire gift to be sealed in a steel vault. Directions are necessary because of the changes certain to come in projection practice.

Thitd of Million See Passion Play

Her Passion Play over, her crowds of tourists gone and her shops sold bare of souvenirs, Oberammergau has slipped back into another decade of peace and quiet. Some 315,000 visitors came to see the Passion Play this season and left millions of marks which the village can devote to improvement purposes. The gross receipts of the play itself were some 20,000,000 marks, the sale of books and photographs netting a further 4,000,000. In addition other millions were spent in the village shops and restaurants.

No Definite Plans at Stanford

No definite plans for the dramatic season have as yet been prepared by Richard Bentinck, who went from here to Stanford. He will have as his chief assistant Miss Chrysella Dunker of Palo Alto, who, as technical director, will continue the work of designing and stage setting which she has carried on under Gordon Davis. Miss Dunker now ranks as assistant professor.

WHAT IS YOUR APPROPRIATION?

The place of advertising in the present economic system is thoroughly well established. Goodwill has come to be a vital factor in the success of any business, and goodwill can only be created by right and persistent advertising.

A manufacturer who advertises honestly the stability and quality of his goods sets for himself a standard of production. He makes a treaty of faith with the buying public which he must uphold at any cost.

Frequently, for the purpose of promotion, the manufacturer needs financial assistance. The time is fast approaching when bankers, having carefully investigated the standing of a manufacturer desiring a loan, will ask this leading question: "What is his advertising appropriation?"

LO, THE POOR ARTIST

The California Art Club has demonstrated that its members are economists, as well as artists. They have protested against the assessor's attempt to collect taxes on their unsold paintings on exhibition. Commercial goods, hats, for instance, have a known value because they are continually bought and sold. But a painting, the artist contends, has not been sold, and hence no one can know its value.

The price put upon the canvass by the artist, it is claimed, is expressive of his ambition, or perhaps of his conceit. The real value, the value that assessors may take cognizance of, is fixed by the buyer, with the approval of the seller, and is determined by a sale. If the picture has no power to arouse the emotions of the beholder to the extent of making an offer, there is clearly no cash value, and the tax law does not apply.

The assessor might make his point by taking with him some one who would make a cash offer for the painting. But this might lead to complications. The artist might accept the offer; and while the commercial value might be fixed, the tax would then fall upon the purchaser.

In view of what the artist gives to the world, and what he gets out of the world, it would seem to be a poor return to tax him on his unsold paintings.

Student Publications Are off the Campus

The English Club of the University of California which has been a prominent organization on the campus for almost twenty years, voted last Thursday night to sever their connection with the university. This decision was reached after a ruling made the night before by the executive committee of the president had been handed them. The ruling stated that the English Club as do all of the other organizations on the campus, must hand to the Associated Students of the university all of the earnings of their publications and activities. This body in turn would finance all undertakings of the club. The club, which is on a solid financial footing and is a commercial organization, refused the demands of the committee and the decree of the president is in consequence that all publications of the club and all activities may not use any of the university buildings nor may they use the name of the university in any way. The acceptance of this decree by the English Club means that the historic Pelican and Occident and the Little Theater sever their connection with the university and become extra-college commercial activities

Missiontown Players Postpone Opening

Much interest in the presentation of three one-act plays under the auspices of the Arts and Crafts Little Theatre on October 27th and 28th, is evident.

The plays are entirely different in theme and character. They were written by different authors, and they are to be put on by different producers. It is these three elements, especially the last named, that are making Carmel critics and near-critics sit up and take notice. In Herbert Heron, John Hilliard and Ira Remsen we have producers whose methods and lines of thought and reasoning are entirely dissimilar in matters dramatic, and it will be interesting to observe the varying manner in which they handle the tasks assigned them.

Tickets for the affair will be on sale at the Palace Drug Stores in Carmel, Monterey and Del Monte.

The Carmel Sanitary Board bond fund now amounts to $1261.52, and the expense fund is credited with $250.82.

The home of the Delbert H. Mains is about completed and the family has moved in. It is a picturesque little dwelling at Dolores and Ninth.

A wireless to the Pine Cone from Minneapolis announces the arrival of David Shearer Cooper via the stork route at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Cooper.

Charles L. Berkey of Chicago has joined his mother and brother here. He has become interested in the Missiontown Players, and will act as treasurer of the organization.

Miss Julia Morgan, well-known architect of San Francisco, is expected in Carmel soon to plan two new dwellings that are to be built in the spring near Santa Lucia and San Carlos.

Mrs. Dorothy Vedder Wegg is back from her trip to Portland, and will be at home in the Thomas bungalow on Camino Real, where she will exhibit her paintings on Saturday afternoons.

Carmelites motoring north will be wise to travel via Santa Cruz for the next month at least. Reports from San Juan state that the detour highway north of that town is in very bad shape, as a result of the recent rains.

Mrs. Ida M. Theurer was here from Los Angeles recently to gather and pack her personal belongings. She has sold her residence here to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Leland of San Jose, who were here last week to take possession.

There was a rush to register for the November election last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. In the two Carmel precincts nearly six hundred citizens will be eligible to vote. Polling places and election officers will be the same as at the August primary.

The total number of pupils enrolled in the public schools of Monterey county is 4192, according to the compilation of Superintendent James G. Force. Monterey leads all other cities with 744 pupils. Of the total number Sunset school has 115 pupils.

Sydney Ruthven, street work contractor for Ocean avenue and Monte Verde street, interviewed a number of the Ocean avenue business property owners last Monday regarding the laying of concrete sidewalks in front of their premises. A considerable number favored the idea.

Carmel's candidate for queen of the big Harvest Festival at the Monterey Auditorium next Saturday night, October 21st, is Miss Margarat Wild, from whom tickets should be purchased, as the tickets she sells determines the number of votes she receives. The fun starts at 8:30 with a six-piece orchestra.

Purely Personal Paragraphs

Mrs. Mary Lynch of San Francisco is spending a month here.

Author "Jimmy" Hopper will spend the winter in New York. He departed a few days ago.

Mrs. Ella Rigney has gone on a month's vacation and rest to Burke's retreat in Sonoma county.

The Prentiss cottage on Dolores street is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ira Mallory Remsen.

George D. Worswick, an orchardist of the Santa Clara valley, is in Carmel for a month's vacation, accompanied by his wife.

Harvey A. Russell and daughter have taken a cottage here for the winter. Miss Camille will attend the Monterey high school.

Miss Irene Alexander, a teacher in the San Jose high school, was a week-end visitor here. She motored down, accompanied by her sister.

Dr. and Mrs. C. P. Poston of Oakland are guests of Mrs. Fenton P. Foster. The doctor is one of "My City's" most prominent dentists.

Mrs. Warren McKibben of San Francisco was here a few days ago to attend to local property interests. She was a guest in the McCollom home.

Mrs. Ninola Locan of Berkeley was a visitor here last week, a guest at the home of her sister, Miss Elizabeth Strong, who has a studio at Casanova near Eleventh.

The friends of Mrs. F. O. Steel and Miss Jessie White will be pleased to learn that they are again in Carmel—for the winter. They have been in Palo Alto several months.

Miss Jana Johnston had as guests last week Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and Miss Miriam Lawrence of San Jose. The last named conducts a library and tea room in the Garden City.

Miss Macqueen Macmillan will remain in the southern part of the state this winter. She was here for a few days last week, leaving on Sunday for Los Angeles.

LATE ITEMS

Mrs. Jessie Short Jackson was here for a few days this week. Her house here is occupied by Mrs. Kendall of San Francisco.

Miss Doris Rockwell, who with her family is well known here, was married at San Gabriel recently. She is now Mrs. Emmet Donohue.

All the necessary rock for the Carmel Soldier Memorial is now on the ground and dressed. Next Monday a stone mason will begin to put the blocks in place.

NOTICE

Local Improvement Dist. No. 2

City of Carmel-by-the-Sea

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN BY the undersigned, as Marshal and ex-officio Tax Collector of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, that the second installment of all assessments levied in Local Improvement District No. 2 in said city, for which waivers and agreements have been executed, together with interest thereon, as in said waivers and agreements set forth, will be due and payable at the time when the municipal taxes of said city are payable, to-wit: On the 16th day of October, 1922, and will become delinquent, if unpaid, on the 26th day of December, 1922, at 6 o'clock p. m.

In case of default in payment of such installment of principal, or of interest accrued on deferred payments as aforesaid and as provided by "The Local Improvement Act of 1901," and the amendments of said act, the entire remaining unpaid installments, with accrued interest, shall become immediately due and payable, together with an additional twenty-five per cent of the total amount still unpaid, and the undersigned, as such Tax Collector, will sell the property covered by the delinquent assessment, to realize the unpaid balance of said installments, with accrued interest, and said additional twenty-five per cent of the total amount still unpaid, pursuant to the provisions of said act and said amendments.
